Who is Toggle Text?

At ToggleText our message is simple – to provide you with a complete language solution service.

Since 1993 we have successfully served the business and private sectors in the Australasian region with timely and quality assured translations.

In addition to Traditional Translation Services covering all major European and Asian languages, our company is at the forefront of language technology. Members of the ToggleText team were involved in developing the world's first Indonesian to English Machine Translation System, "Memtah", which is currently used by the public sector in Australia and the United States.

This expertise has now created the ToggleText Transcribe Automatic Translation System, enabling users to efficiently and effectively translate text by themselves utilising our advanced software. Currently geared towards the language of Asia and the Pacific, our company will be amongst the first to supply this region with Automatic Translation.

Our technological capabilities are complemented by the skills of experienced and professional translators selected on their accuracy and reliability. Our translators are NAATI (National Accreditation Authority for Translators & Interpreters Ltd) accredited and we support members of AUSIT (Australian Institute of Interpreters and Translators). We also employ strict quality assurance procedures in accordance with ISO 9001 regulations.
